

Eat Defeat - Shortcuts

Late nights and long drives home

Carrying on all alone

People and places change but I just seem to stay the same

And I know it's hard for you to relate to what I've been through

But just know i'm happy and i'm doing what i wanna do

I can't change no matter what you do

I'm just set in my ways but I'm not judging you

I've always been this way

Naive enough to say that I think I'm gonna be ok

When you're taking shortcuts you're just missing out on everything

I'll take the long way round, be lost and never found

You'll get there faster but I'm built to last

Keeping cool while you're burning out

Spent half my life it seems, chasing after all my dreams

You'd think I'd have caught them by now but they keep outrunning me

I can't fake this, it's make or break

If I knew what I know now i'd do it again

I can't change no matter what you do

I'm just set in my ways but I'm not judging you

When you're taking shortcuts you're just missing out on everything

I'll take the long way round, be lost and never found

You'll get there faster but I'm built to last

Keeping cool while you're burning out

And I know there's nothing that i'd rather do

I'd travel days just to waste time with you

And when my body breaks down and my money runs out

At least I'll have something to sing about

You're taking shortcuts

When you're taking shortcuts you're just missing out on everything

I'll take the long way round, be lost and never found

You'll get there faster but I'm built to last

Keeping cool while you're burning out

You're taking shortcuts

We're keeping cool while you're burning out

We're keeping cool while you're burning, but you'll never learn
