Alec Normal - Leave Me

When you leave me, i feel lighter
Love and drunkenness will make my heart beat tighter
And when i'm open, you always close me
Feeling of rejection's always so cozy

And then i ran back inside
Before you could latch onto my mind
And never did i once just see
That for once, for once i'm free

My dreams perceive me as a fighter
When i close my eyes it's like my world gets brighter
Words never spoken
My thoughts eroding
Wouldn't guess a puppet could be so controlling

Our eyes met and i sighed
And then another small part of me died
And never did i once just see
That for once, for once i'm free

I never understood the way you breathed, oh
The door was open but i couldn't leave, you know
Flip a coin deny the side it lands on
Gaslighting is not something i wanted, but i planned on
When you leave me, i feel lighter
Love and drunkenness will make my heart beat tighter
And when i'm open, you always close me
Feeling of rejection's always so cozy

And then i ran back inside

Before you could latch onto my mind

And never did i once just see

That for once, for once i'm free

I never understood the way you breathed, oh

The door was open but i couldn't leave, you know

Flip a coin deny the side it lands on

Gaslighting is not something i wanted, but i planned on

And then i ran back inside

Before you could latch onto my mind

And never did i once just see

That for once, for once i'm free