

Gothic Psychology - Time to Think

(Verse 1)

In the quiet of the night, under the moon's soft glow
My mind begins to wander, letting all my feelings flow
A melody of memories, haunting every dream
It's time to find a moment, in the silence, to redeem

(Chorus)

I need some time to think, in the shadows of my mind
Lost in contemplation, leaving worries far behind
Echoes of the past, whispers in the dark
A melancholy symphony, leaving a lasting mark

(Verse 2)

I drift through thoughts like autumn leaves descend
Reflecting on the fractures, on every broken bend
The weight of all I carry, in the corridors of my mind
A labyrinth of emotions, searching for what I've left behind

(Chorus)

I need some time to think, in the shadows of my mind
Lost in contemplation, leaving worries far behind
Echoes of the past, whispers in the dark
A melancholy symphony, leaving a lasting mark

(Post Chorus)

Fade away, away, please say
You'll fade away, away, so say I'll finally

(Bridge)

And as the seconds pass, like shadows on the wall
I grapple with the echoes, as they slowly start to fall
A mosaic of emotions, painted in shades of blue

It's time to face the echoes, time to see them through
As I'm fading away, promise you'll remember me

(Chorus)

I need some time to think, in the shadows of my mind
Lost in contemplation, leaving worries far behind
Echoes of the past, whispers in the dark
A melancholy symphony, leaving a lasting marks

I need some time to think, in the shadows of my mind
Lost in contemplation, leaving worries far behind
Echoes of the past, whispers in the dark
A melancholy symphony, leaving a lasting mark