

Kid Wcked - t o[Ara's Interlude]

Hey Abby, it's Ara

I know that you are going through it right now, but I need you to stand on business and continue doing what you gotta do

There are two types of people in this world

Those who have accepted time and those who are still trying to outrun it

But the thing about time is: it's unavoidable, inescapable, and irreplaceable

And from what I know about you, you're not going to waste it, you're not going to lose it

And you're going to spend a lot of time trying to chase it

Now time is either going to be your prison or your freedom

And you're going to accept it but you're not going to let it define you

Because you want more

Not just of time, but more from life and I hope that you get all of that: a ll that you want and more

Because time waits for no one and we're constantly running out of it, but t hey're so few people like you willing to accept it

And you cannot cheat time, it's as natural as living

So why waste what is here for what has yet to come

Are you really afraid of living and dying or are you just terrified of living and thriving?

Running from time is like having nothing to run toâ€¦
