

Rafolino - Born To Be Sad

I believed in love

I believed in the world

I believed in people

I believed in religion

But now I know

Everything is a lie

Nobody else could make me believe again

In all the things I used to believe in the past

I wish that my life could be easier

I wish I had not seen all that I saw

I saw the truth in this life

I had to understand that I was born to be sad

Nobody taught me that life is so sad

Nothing makes me happy anymore

No one else can make me happy

My feelings were destroyed

I had no one to turn to

Nobody helped me

Everyone shut down

It is so sad to live in loneliness

It's so sad to be rejected

It's so destructive to be repudiated

Working is not dignifying

Nothing matters anymore

All that matters is money and beauty

There's no point in lying

There's no point in believing

I know I was born to suffer

I feel totally sad

There's no bridge to escape

There's no helping hand to help me

There's no link to connect

There's no brotherhood to notice me

I was born just to be sad