

Bruce Hibbard - Calling

I can't seem to shake this feeling
My life is falling apart
Reality is closing in on me
I wish that i could make a new start

So many years i've wasted
Just living for myself
When i think i've found what i'm looking for
I start looking for something else

I can feel your spirit deep inside
Showing me the way to go
And i've heard your call so many times
In a voice so soft and low

I hear you calling, i hear you calling
I hear you calling, i hear you calling
I hear you calling, i hear you calling
How long can a man go on?

I've always had a reason
That keeps me from coming to you
Through blinded eyes, i try to justify
Every little thing that i do

Hold on, don't give in
You've got too much living to do
Ah, but through it all, i still hear your call
I know you're drawing me right back to you
I hear you calling, i hear you calling
I hear you calling, i hear you calling

I hear you calling, i hear you calling

How long can a man go on?

Said, how long, yeah, can a man go on?

I hear you calling (calling out my name)

I hear you calling (i hear you calling me)

I hear you calling (calling, calling out my name)

I hear you calling (i wonder how long)

I hear you calling (can a man go on?)

I hear you calling (i wanna know how long)

I hear you calling (can a man go on and on and on, yeah?)

I hear you calling

I hear you calling

I hear you calling

I hear you calling

I hear you calling

I hear you calling

I hear you calling
